Humanists base their moral principles on reason, shared human values and respect for others. They believe people should work together to improve the quality of life for all. Thinkers such as Charles Darwin, Marie Curie and George Humanists don't believe in a religion or a god. In the past, some Humanists did believe in religion, but during the 19th and 20th centuries, Humanists became more secular.

Humanism- Key ideas

Non-Existence of Gods
Most Humanists are atheists. They rely on science and have found
no evidence that a god exists or ever existed.

Meaning of Life Humanists give their lives meaning by living good lives. They make good choices and take an interest in the world around them.

Science Scientific investigations gather evidence to find the truth. Humanists also use evidence to see what is true.

No Purpose to the Universe They believe that the universe was created by chance, so there is no purpose to the universe.

Reason Humanists believe decisions should not be made on emotions, but on reason, rationality and logic.

Ethical Decisions To live good lives, decisions must be weighed up for their positive and negative consequences for all. Humanists believe there are no perfect decisions.

Humanism Symbols and Meanings

The Humanist symbol is called the Happy Human. It was designed by Dennis Barrington who won a competition organised by the BHA in 1965. The symbol was chosen as the design was simple. The symbol shows a human, but it could have be either a male or female. Within a few years, this symbol became the international symbol of Humanism. The symbol is still used, in a range of adapted forms, in the present day.

Humanists believe in a golden rule in life. This is to treat others how you would like to be treated.

The British Humanist Association Values
